

SOME APPLES;
SOME POTATOESResidents of the Neighboring Towns
Raise Unusually Large Crops

With the stories of bumper crops come equally entertaining stories of unusually large individual products. Apples, potatoes and corn appear to have the best call among the yarns that are being passed around among the farming circles.

Charles R. Oxford who conducts a farm at the Plains near the Green-land line, has raised 15 1-4 bushels of potatoes to the peck of seed. When it is considered that an average of ten bushels of seed is planted to the acre and that the crop under circumstances of Mr. Oxford's plant- ing and growing would be 610 bush- els to the acre the result can be seen to be marvelous.

Five hundred bushels of potatoes to the acre is a phenomenal crop. Seed growers only guarantee 100 bushels to the acre. People who do business with the growers are usually more than satisfied if the land yields 200 bushels to the acre. Yet

Mr. Oxford's patch has yielded more than double that amount.

J. Hurnet Pickering has grown 196 barrels of Baldwin apples. The quantity of the growth is not abnormal, as Mr. Pickering has often picked double that amount of apples from the same orchard at his New- ington farm. But the size of the in- dividual apples is remarkable. At the request of a newspaper reporter and the proprietors of S. A. Schur- man and son, seedsmen, Mr. Pick- ering today picked up four Baldwins at random from each four barrels loaded into his demerit wagon. One of the Baldwins weighed a pound. The four together three pounds and two ounces. Joseph Don- dero the fruit dealer was presented with the apple that tips the scales at a pound and four ounces. Red corn is abundant in larger quantities than for years. The corn is more prettily colored, more symmetrically grown, and harder, than usual.

IT'S A BIG ONE.

Voters May Have to Take a Day Off to Mark Ballot in Pennsylvania.

One of the largest ballots to be used in any state on Tuesday next is that of Pennsylvania. The official ticket is two feet, eight inches long, two feet 3 3-8 inches wide and contains the names of eight presidential electors. The list is as follows: Republican, democratic, prohibition, socialist, bull moose, industrialist, Roosevelt-progres- sive and Washington. There is also a blank electoral ticket for those who desire to write in the names of electoral candidates not otherwise nominated, so that nobody but the ballot counters has any reason to find fault.

BOY CONFESSES
TO MURDEREdwin Goodwin of Surry, Me., Says
He Killed Captain Young but Didn't Intend To

Ellsworth, Me., October 31.—"I suppose I am guilty. I did not calcu- late to kill him."

This unexpected confession by Ed- win Goodwin aged 17 of Surry, that he killed Captain Henry C. Young, late storekeeper and retired master mariner whose body was found on the edge of Patten's pond stream yesterday, startled those gathered in the municipal court room late to- day.

It was made when he was asked by Judge Henry M. Hall to plead to the charge of murder on which he had just been formerly arrested. He made no other statement in court. He was ordered remanded to the county jail without bail to await the action of the grand jury next April.

The most suspicious circumstance against the youth was the finding on his person of $25 for which he was unable to account, it being known he seldom carried any money. When detained as a suspect yesterday by deputy sheriff Stewart he had con- siderable money and was about to take a train for Bangor.

It was brought out today at the in- quest, which resulted in a verdict that Captain Young was murdered by a blow over the head, that Good- win was in the store fifteen minutes before closing time, Tuesday night, and saw Capt Young fold his mon- ey into a wallet preparatory to tak- ing it home for the night as was his custom. The wallet was found on the shore of the stream below where the body rested. Goodwin presented a boyish ap- pearance but seemed nervous during the brief period he was in the court room. He was brought up in the home of Luther Goodwin, at Surry and has been known by that name.

STEPS TAKEN TO
RE-OPEN ROADMr. Kelley Explains the Necessary Formalities That Must Be Complied With.

The following statement from John W. Kelley in regard to reopening of the electric road to Greenland will be of interest to our citizens and those of the adjoining towns. Mr. Kelley says:

The papers relating to this matter were sent me on Thursday, with the suggestion that I act with the greatest promptness to get the neces- sary permission from the state, the city, and the town of Greenland to construct and operate the Por- tsmouth-Greenland line.

I presented to the Public Service Commission at Concord on Friday a petition for leave to construct this ex- tension. The law provides that be- fore any railroad can construct and operate in extension the Public Ser- vice Commission must certify that the public good requires it. The Public Service Commission was most obliging, and fixed the earliest pos- sible time for a hearing on this question, November 9, next and this petition and order are published in this paper today.

Assuming the Public Service Com- mission will give to the railroad a certificate that the public good re- quires the construction and operation of this branch, then it becomes nec- essary to petition the city council of Portsmouth and the selectmen of Greenland for a location on the Ex- treme turnpike. These two public bodies must give notice by publica- tion of the petition for location and the time and place at which they will consider the same. This notice must be published once a week for three weeks, the last publication to be one week before the date set for hearing. The petition for a loca- tion cannot be filed, therefore, with the city and town officials until the 11th of November, and under the law of publication the hearing could not be held until the first week in De- cember, after which time the Boston and Maine may legally proceed to construct and operate this branch.

I should state one fact which is not generally understood, and it is this, the old Portsmouth and Exeter street railroad surrendered its franchise to operate this road, and therefore it is necessary for the Boston and Maine to apply for permission to construct this extension, just as if there was never any electric road to Greenland and the fact that a large part of the materials to be used are now in the highway in the shape of an electric track does not help legally at all.

Vice President Brynes in his let- ter said that he hoped the necessary permission would be obtained so that the work could be done before cold weather and I am hopeful that im- mediately after a certificate that the public good requires this extension is issued by the Public Service Com- mission on November 9th that some way can be devised whereby the work of putting this branch in work- ing order may go forward at once.

I make this statement in order that the public may understand that the railroad is doing everything in its power to hasten this matter, but the law must be complied with, and that compliance occasions some delay.

SLASHED THROAT
WITH RAZORMember of Paducah's Crew
Tries to End His Life.

One of the crew of the U. S. S. Paducah who is attached to the en- gineers' division of that ship at- tempted to end his life last night by cutting his throat shortly after mid- night. The man had been on watch up to that hour and appeared to be all right. After being relieved by one of his shipmates, he took a shave and a bath and as his relief thought, had turned in for the night. A noise in the engine room attracted the at- tention of other men on duty who immediately started to investigate. They found the man just after he had made the slash, and stopped the flow of blood. A ship's doctor from the Washington was called and at- tended him. The attending physi- cian says he will recover and the official force of the command de- clined the publication of his name or any information today regarding the attack.

EXETER LETTER

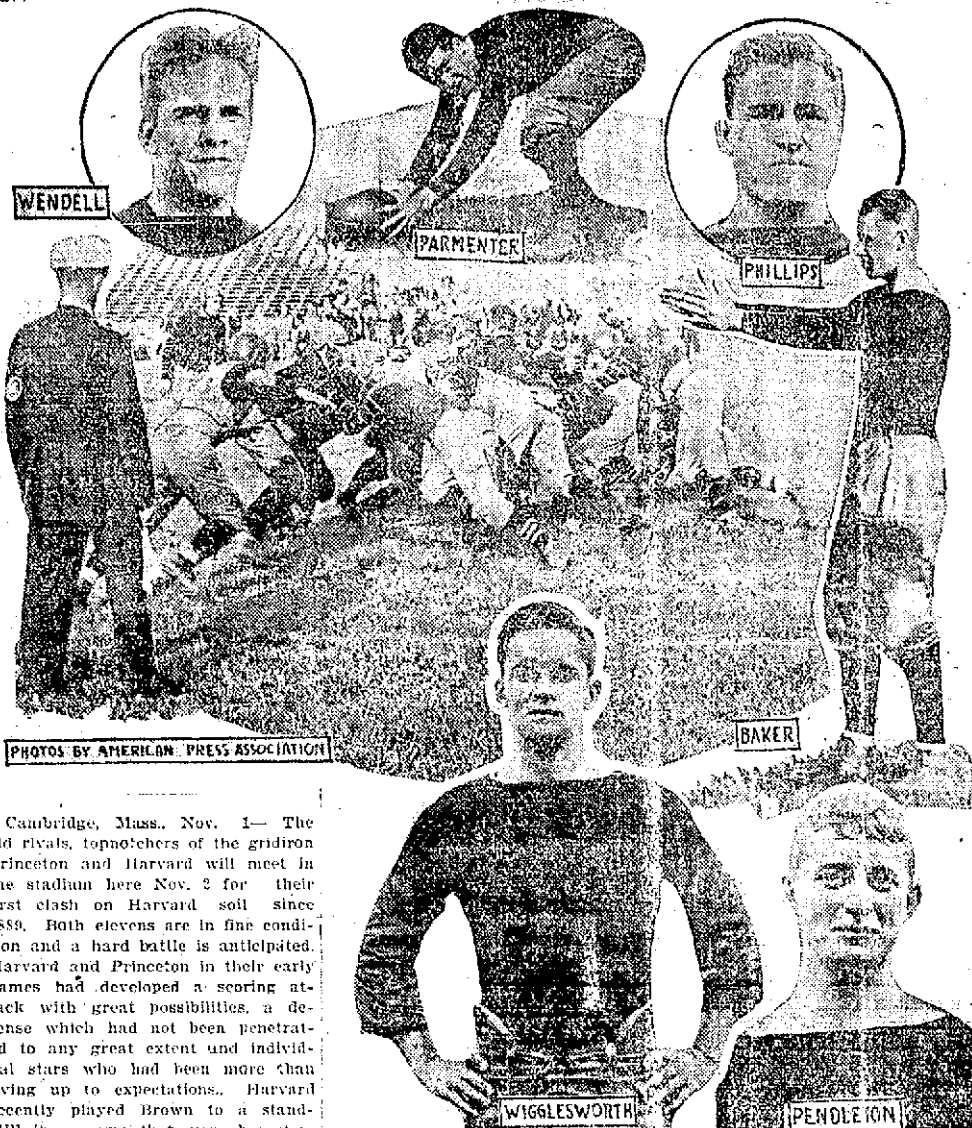

Funeral services for Mrs. Eunice Perkins, wife of William Perkins, was held Thursday afternoon at the Christ church, conducted by the rector, the Rev. Victor M. Baughton. The bearers were John W. A. Green, J. Herbert Hiseok, James Noonan and William Wilson.

Mrs. Perkins died at the Cottage hospital Monday evening, having been an inmate there for the past week. She was 45 years of age, and lived here for about eighteen years, being a native of St. Margaret's Bay, N. S.

Some of the Leading Harvard and Princeton Football Players Who Will Clash on Gridiron at Cambridge

PHOTOS BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 1.—The old rivals, topnotchers of the gridiron Princeton and Harvard will meet in the stadium here Nov. 2 for their first clash on Harvard soil since 1889. Both eleven are in fine condition and a hard battle is anticipated. Harvard and Princeton in their early games had developed a scoring attack with great possibilities, a defense which had not been penetrated to any great extent and individual stars who had been more than living up to expectations. Harvard recently played Brown to a standstill in a game that was characterized by a great many misplays on the part of the Brown team and by the aggressiveness of the Harvard eleven in taking advantage of these weaknesses in Brown's play. Harvard was more powerful than Brown both in the back field and the rush line. Princeton's defeat of Dartmouth cannot but elevate the Tiger stock. The versatility of the Tiger backs was evidence from start to finish but the Princeton defense did not prove itself irresistible. Harvard's defense has been more consistent. This

STOMACH SOUR? GOT INDIGESTION ALSO?

"Pap's Dapsin" Makes Upset Stomachs Feel Fine in Five Minutes

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach, or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, taste in mouth and stomach, headache, this is indigestion.

A full case of Pap's Dapsin costs only 50 cents and will thoroughly cure your out of order stomach, and leave sufficient about the house in case someone else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these fifty cent cases then you will understand why dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve sour out of order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. Dapsin is harmless and tastes like candy though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat, besides it makes you go to the table with a hearty appetite; but what will please you most is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh and you will not need to resort to laxatives or other pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many Dapsin cranks as some people will call them but you will be cranky about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever try a little for indigestion or gastritis or any other stomach misery.

The Gold Dust Twins' Philosophy

If you have ever fumed and fussed, because of dirt and grime and rust, and said to yourself, "Oh, dear! This household work will kill, I fear"—then it is time that you should find some other method far more kind.

Of all the woes a housewife bears, one always fills her day with cares: The kitchen after-meal-time muss, is quite enough to make one fuss. What, with the pots and pails and pans, the knives and forks and plates and cans, no task of man, however grim, the half as mean is handed him.

Two little willing workers aim to enter in this household game: their job, the lessening of work, a task that neither of them shrink. With active little hands and brains they grab the irksome household reins, till soon each kettle, pot or dish, is just as bright as you could wish. And not until the chores are done, from sink to silver, sun to sun, could anything inspire the two, to drop the tasks they have to do.

Therefore, if you have never known, assistance such as we have shown, your troubles end, where joy begins. Now, Mrs. Drudge, the Gold Dust Twins! Henceforth, as dishes congregate, when cutlery, in sad array, awaits you at the close of day—"Cheer Up!" Forget the labor planned: You have two aids at your command.

CEMENTBULGARIANS DEFEAT
BIG TURKISH ARMYNow Have Adrianople Hemmed In--
Powers to Intervene Before
Constantinople is Taken.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The Bulgarian Army has completely defeated a Turkish force, estimated at 200,000 men, at Lulu Burgas, after three days' fighting, according to a news agency dispatch from Sofia.

The Burgas is near the railroad between Adrianople and Constantinople.

The Turkish Army, after its defeat at Lulu Burgas, retreated towards Tehatalia.

Adrianople is completely hemmed in by the Bulgarian troops.

TURKISH SQUADRON AIDING. CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 31.—It is rumored here that the Bulgarian troops are being bombarded by a Turkish Squadron on the Black Sea Coast, and that under cover of the firing a body of Turkish troops has been landed.

POWERS MAY INTERVENE.

"In Any Event, Entry of Bulgarian Troops into Constantinople Will Not Be Tolerated."

London, Oct. 31.—Whatever the result of the great battle now being fought between the Turkish and Bulgarian Armies in the eastern part of the Balkan Peninsula, its conclusion will probably give occasion for the intervention of the European Powers. In dispatches from Vienna it is asserted that the Foreign Ministers of the European Governments have reached a tentative agreement in this matter, and in any event the entry of Bulgarian troops into Constantinople will not be tolerated by the Powers. Even Russia is disinclined to permit such an occurrence.

It is also understood in diplomatic quarters in the Austrian capital that the Balkan Nations already have made known in an unofficial manner that they are prepared to accept intervention by the Powers at any moment now.

Special dispatches from Constantinople say that the eastern wing of the Turkish Army, which is now bearing the brunt of the battle with the Bulgarians, has been reinforced with four Syrian Army corps.

TURKISH RESERVES LIABLE TO PANIC.

The center of the Turkish Army is composed of pick troops, chief Regulars, as the reserves have been responsible. In the opinion of the Turkish War Office for most of the defeats suffered so far by the Turkish troops, owing to their liability to panic.

It is also reported in Constantinople that a Turkish force has crossed the Maritza River in the direction of Demotica, in order to cover the approach of further troops from the West down the Arda Valley.

It is stated that the Turkish Government has decided to send out the Ottoman fleet, with orders to open

NEARLY SCALPED BY AN ELECTRIC CARChester McKenna Asleep Alongside of the Track--Raised His Head
as Car Passed.

Chester McKenna of Elliot was struck by a car on the Atlantic Shore Railroad on the nine o'clock trip from Elliot, Thursday evening and he is now at the Portsmouth Hospital.

McKenna it is claimed was lying along side the rails on the private right of way of the road near Walker's Crossing. The nine o'clock car to the ferry in charge of motorman Martin and Conductor Buzzell, was coming along at a fast clip and just before it reached where McKenna was lying, out of sight of the motorman, he lifted his head and he was struck by the step of the car.

The step struck him in the head, at most tearing off a part of his scalp and rendering him unconscious.

The motorman did not see the man at all until the car struck him and he pulled his car down short.

McKenna was placed on the car, and brought into the ferry and taken to the hospital in an ambulance.

Dr. B. C. Woodbury attended McKenna. The nine o'clock car to the ferry have three very bad scalp wounds, but his skull was not fractured and he is expected to recover.

The step of the car must have hit him a glancing blow, otherwise it would have killed him.

through the Aegean Sea to Salliki and Dedegatch.

Steps are being taken by the Turkish War Office to improve the supply service of the Army at the front.

The first air victim of the war, the Russian aviator Popoff, was instructor of aviation in the Russian Army. He, with several others, left Russia a few days ago to offer his service to the Bulgarian Army. While flying with his machine over Adrianople, he was brought down by Turkish shrapnel shells. Special reports say he was killed.

TURKS FLED TO TCHORLU.
Main Army Reported Completely
Routed--Its Battle Front Was
Over 31 Miles Long.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 31.—The Bulgarian Army has completely routed the main Turkish Army under Nazim Pasha. The Turks fled in disorder on the field.

The battle which is regarded as the most important engagement since the beginning of the war, lasted three entire days. It extends along the line from Lulu Burgas eastward to Sorat. The Turkish front was over 31 miles long.

The Ottoman troops retreated to Tchorlu, about 21 miles to the south of the position from which they were driven by the Bulgarians.

Tchorlu is about 40 or 50 miles west of Constantinople.

POSTHUMOUS BABY

Little Miss Marvin's Father Went Down With the Titanic

New York, October 30.—Announcement was made here today of the birth of a girl baby of Mrs. Daniel W. Marvin of Riverside Drive. Mrs. Marvin and her husband were returning on the Titanic from their honeymoon trip to Europe when the liner went to the bottom. Mr. Martin met his death and Mrs. Marvin was saved. It was said today that both mother and daughter were doing well. Mrs. Marvin's marriage attracted some attention in New York because of the fact that a moving picture concern was employed to take a complete set of pictures of the ceremony. At the time of marriage the bride was only 17 years old and the bridegroom a year older.

Some of the Leading Harvard and Princeton Football Players Who Will Clash on Gridiron at Cambridge

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 1.—The old rivals, topnotchers of the gridiron Princeton and Harvard will meet in the stadium here Nov. 2 for their first clash on Harvard soil since 1889. Both elevens are in fine condition and a hard battle is anticipated. Harvard and Princeton in their early games had developed a scoring attack with great possibilities, a defense which had not been penetrated to any great extent and individual stars who had been more than living up to expectations. Harvard recently played Brown to a standstill in a game that was characterized by a great many misplays on the part of the Brown team and by the aggressiveness of the Harvard eleven in taking advantage of these weaknesses in Brown's play. Harvard was more powerful than Brown both in the back field and the rush line. Princeton's defeat of Dartmouth cannot but elevate the Tiger stock. The versatility of the Tiger backs was in evidence from start to finish but the Princeton defense did not prove itself irresistible. Harvard's defense has been more consistent. This

Francis T. French, 77, of East Kingston, died Thursday at his home in that town after a brief illness. He was well known here, and also throughout the county. Mr. French was born in East Kingston, Sept. 2, 1825, the son of Richard and Judith (Hilton) French, and at the age of 18 years went into business with George W. Sanborn, they doing a thriving butchering business which extended into a wholesale and retail meat business. He also did in extensive cattle business throughout the county. He continued in partnership with Mr. Sanborn for twenty-five years, and then conducted the business for himself, buying out his partner's interest.

He owned two 82-acre farms in East Kingston, and one of 150 acres in Kensington. Mr. French was a man who lived a retired life for the past ten years, took an interest in public affairs, and served the town for a long period as selectman, and town clerk, and also represented it in the legislatures of 1895, 1879 and 1893, and was state senator in 1883. He was twice married, his first wife being Aline Stevens of Newton, she dying July 13, 1876, and in 1877 he was married to Miss Emily Chase of Seabrook. He is survived by one daughter, Mr. French was an active member of the Rockingham County Republican club. The funeral will be held Sunday at 2 o'clock.

Carl Smith of Newfields, who has been employed on the Panama canal during the past two years, will be one of those who are to travel many miles to cast their vote at the coming election. Mr. Smith is due to be here at the polls next Tuesday, and will cast his vote for President Taft, he having come from the foreign country to accomplish the duty.

Thodore W. York, the Yale football player, who died at the Yale infirmary Wednesday evening, was well remembered here, as he played two years on the Andover eleven which defeated Exeter. There are members of the present Exeter squad who played against him at Andover in 1910, his last year at the academy there.

STOMACH SOUR? GOT INDIGESTION ALSO?

"Pape's Diapysin" Makes Upset Stomachs Feel Fine in Five Minutes

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach, or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and erocate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, taste in mouth and stomach, headache, this is indigestion.

A full case of Pape's Diapysin costs only 50 cents and will thoroughly cure your out of order stomach, and leave sufficient about the house in case someone else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these fifty cent cases then you will understand why dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve sour out of order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. Diapysin is harmless and tastes like candy though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but what will please you most is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many Diapysin cranks as some people will call them but you will be equally about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever try a little for indigestion or gastritis or any other stomach misery.

WEAR HUB RUBBERS This Winter

The Gold Dust Twins' Philosophy

If you have ever fumed and fussed, because of dirt and grime and rust, and said unto yourself, "Oh, dear! This household work will kill, I fear!"—then it is time that you should find some other method far more kind.

Of all the woes a housewife bears, one always fills her day with cares: The kitchen after-meal-time mess, is quite enough to make one fuss. What, with the pots and pails and pans, the knives and forks and plates and cans, no task of man, however grim, the half as mean is handed him.

Two little willing workers aim to enter in this household game; their job, the lessening of work, a task that neither of them shrink. With active little hands and brains they grab the irksome household reins, till soon each kettle, pot or dish, is just as bright as you could wish. And not until the chores are done, from sink to silver, sun to sun, could anything inspire the two, to drop the tasks they have to do.

Therefore, if you have never known, assistance such as we have shown, your troubles end, where joy begins. Now, Mrs. Drudge, the Gold Dust Twins! Henceforth, as dishes congregate, and dingy pots that cannot wait; when cutlery, in sad array, awaits you at the close of day—"Cheer Up!" Forget the labor planned: You have two aids at your command.

BULGARIANS DEFEAT BIG TURKISH ARMY

Now Have Adrianople Hemmed In—
Powers to Intervene Before
Constantinople is Taken.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The Bulgarian Army has completely defeated a Turkish force, estimated at 200,000 men, at Luleburgas, after three days' fighting, according to a news agency dispatch from Sofia.

The Turkish Army, after its defeat at Luleburgas, retreated towards Tehtalja.

Adrianople is completely hemmed in by the Bulgarian troops.

TURKISH SQUADRON AIDING.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 31.—It is rumored here that the Bulgarian troops are being bombarded by a Turkish Squadron on the Black Sea Coast, and that under cover of the firing a body of Turkish troops has been landed.

POWERS MAY INTERVENE.

"In Any Event, Entry of Bulgarian Troops into Constantinople Will Not Be Tolerated."

London, Oct. 31.—Whatever the result of the great battle now being fought between the Turkish and Bulgarian Armies in the eastern part of the Balkan Peninsula, its conclusion will probably give occasion for the intervention of the European Powers. In dispatches from Vienna it is asserted that the Foreign Ministers of the European Governments have reached a tentative agreement in this matter, and in any event the entry of Bulgarian troops into Constantinople will not be tolerated by the Powers. Even Russia is disinclined to permit such an occurrence.

It is also understood in diplomatic quarters in the Austrian capital that the Balkan Nations already have made known in an unofficial manner that they are prepared to accept intervention by the Powers at any moment now.

Special dispatches from Constantinople say that the eastern wing of the Turkish Army, which is now bearing the brunt of the battle with the Bulgarians, has been reinforced with four Syrian Army corps.

TURKISH RESERVES LIABLE TO PANIC.

The center of the Turkish Army is composed of pick troops, chief regulars, as the reserves have been responsible, in the opinion of the Turkish War Office for most of the defeats suffered so far by the Turkish troops, owing to their liability to panic.

It is also reported in Constantinople that a Turkish force has crossed the Maritza River in the direction of Demotica, in order to cover the approach of further troops from the West down the Arda Valley.

It is stated that the Turkish Government has decided to send out the Ottoman fleet, with orders to open

NEARLY SCALPED BY AN ELECTRIC CAR

Chester McKenna Asleep Alongside
of the Track--Raised His Head
as Car Passed.

Chester McKenna of Elliot was struck by a car on the Atlantic Shore Railroad on the nine o'clock trip from Elliot Thursday evening and he is now at the Portsmouth Hospital.

McKenna it is claimed was lying along side the rails on the private right of way of the road near Walker's Crossing. The nine o'clock car to the ferry in charge of motorman Martin and Conductor Buzzell, was coming along at a fast clip and just before it reached where McKenna was lying, out of sight of the motorman, he lifted his head and he was struck by the step of the car.

The step struck him in the head, almost tearing off a part of his scalp and rendering him unconscious.

The motorman did not see the man at all until the car struck him and he pulled his car down short.

McKenna was placed on the car, and brought into the ferry and taken to the hospital in an ambulance.

Dr. B. C. Woodbury attended McKenna. The nine o'clock car into the ferry have three very bad scalp wounds, but his skull was not fractured and he is expected to recover.

The step of the car must have hit him a glancing blow, otherwise it would have killed him.

through the Aegean Sea to Saliniki and Dedegatch.

Steps are being taken by the Turkish War Office to improve the supply service of the Army at the front.

The first air victim of the war, the Russian aviator Popoff, was instructed of aviation in the Russian Army. He, with several others, left Russia a few days ago to offer his service to the Bulgarian Army. While flying with his machine over Adrianople, he was brought down by Turkish shrapnel shells. Special reports say he was killed.

TURKS FLED TO TCHORLU.
Main Army Reported Completely
Routed—Its Battle Front Was
Over 31 Miles Long.

SOFLA, Bulgaria, Oct. 31.—The Bulgarian Army has completely routed the main Turkish Army under Nazim Pasha. The Turks fled in disorder on the field.

The battle which is regarded as the most important engagement since the beginning of the war, lasted three entire days. It extends along the line from Luleburgas eastward to Sornal. The Turkish front was over 31 miles long.

The Ottoman troops retreated to Tchurulu, about 21 miles to the south of the position from which they were driven by the Bulgarians.

Tchurulu is about 40 or 50 miles west of Constantinople.

New York, October 30.—Announcement was made here today of the birth of a girl baby of Mrs. Daniel W. Marvin of Riverside Drive. Mrs. Marvin and her husband were returning on the Titanic from their honeymoon trip to Europe when the liner went to the bottom. Mr. Marvin met his death and Mrs. Marvin was saved. It was said today that both mother and daughter were doing well. Mrs. Marvin's marriage attracted some attention in New York because of the fact that a moving picture concern was employed to take a complete set of pictures of the ceremony. At the time of marriage the bride was only 17 years old and the bridegroom a year older.

Resentment from Thoughtful Voters.

When this man, Theodore Roosevelt, imperiously demanded, with the air and insolent manner of an American Caesar, that the faithful services of William Howard Taft as president be misrepresented and the splendid achievements of his administration be disregarded, in order to place him again upon the pedestal of power, that his erratic fancy and vaulting ambition might be satisfied, then the spirit of the thoughtful voters—their number daily increasing—resented such unwarrantable insolence and became awake to the perils of the present campaign.

Because men dared at the outset to stand up against such misplaced strenuousness and challenge the audacity of irresponsible mendacity, then, in order to throw dust in the eyes of the voters and distract attention from his own unjust and cruel attacks both on the great party and its great candidate, Mr. Roosevelt raised the cry of "stop, thief." He had been found with his hands in another man's pockets and the discovery of the fact by other able men discomfited him.

When contests, fraudulent and unmerited, which he had trumped up, mostly in the southern delegations, were decided against him, he set up the cry that he had been robbed, and in a rage left the party. The fact of history is that the platform on which Mr. Taft was renominated is the most progressive that the republican party has ever enunciated.—Manchester Mirror.

The Uninformed Voter.

There are fully 3,000,000 voters in this country who had no personal knowledge of the distressing conditions of 1893. The story of those days is to them like the history of the Civil war to many others. It is interesting rather than impressive. This is the menace of the election that approaches. They cannot realize the tremendous importance of having a party in power that has correct views of how to maintain the prosperity of the government and the widespread industry and happiness of all the people. The misfortune of a democratic victory—if it should come—does not dawn upon them at this time. The fact is that there are thousands of workmen in factories and clerks in offices and stores who think that any sort of change will help them, especially in reducing the cost of living. They have yet to learn that high prices, with every man who is willing to work employed at good wages, are greatly to be preferred to low prices with thousands out of employment. If they did, there would be no question what ever about the triumphant election of William Howard Taft to the position which he has so wisely and honorably filled for the past four years.—Manchester Mirror.

The New York Times says it would be strange, indeed, if the statesmen of Europe were not anxious and baffled at the course of the war in the Balkans. It makes the forecasts of a few weeks since tragically ridiculous. When with endless trouble the diplomatists of the five powers—Italy was busy with another matter—agreed on a collective note to Turkey, and to the "Balkan federation" telling the one that it must be "good" and the others that they would not be allowed to change the status quo, would not be permitted to take the fruits of victory if they won, the move was regarded as decisive. If there was to be fighting it would be localized within the boundaries of European Turkey and would probably, though bloody, be scattered and inconclusive. When it had gone on long enough to exhaust the men and the money of both sides there would be a conference, and the old course of things would be resumed. Before the note could be delivered old King Nicholas broke across the frontier of Montenegro, the Bulgarian army was massed within striking distance of Adrianople, the Serbian troops were moving to aid the Bulgars, and the Greeks, admitting Cretan deputies to their parliament were shelling Turkish forts and on the point of invading the region about Olympus.

These days we have been enjoying recently are of royal lineage says the Baltimore Sun. They are clothed in all the gorgeous raiment of sky and forest, and give the old earth a fresh charm and life a new and higher pulse even for the oldest or the most phlegmatic of mortals. They come from the best stock in nature's day book, and form her prize exhibits for the closing year.

The Detroit Free Press says Colonel Bryan thinks the democratic chances so good this year that he's almost sorry he's not running himself.

Wartime Scenes In Constantinople; Turks Going to Enlist; Buying Horses For Cavalry.

Photos by American Press Association.

The latest figures of the opposing armies in the Balkan war show that Turkey can put in the field 500,000 regulars, keeping 405,000 men in reserve, while her present foes have a combined strength of 462,000 men. The Turkish soldiers have an established reputation for bravery, sobriety, devotion to duty and endurance. The upper picture shows an army officer examining horses with a view to determining their soundness for cavalry service. FROM OTHERS.

The Boston Post asserts that the undertaking of the United States to clean up the isthmus and Central America from the pestilences which have found seat in that region is advanced by the agreement of Ecuador for the sanitation of the harbor and city of Guayaquil, long known as the "pest hole of the Pacific." The opening of the canal gives the United States a practical as well as an ethical influence upon the provision for health upon this continent.

The Philadelphia Press strikes the nail on the head when it says betting on the election in many cities is a mere matter of bluffing. It is evident that such is the fact with a great deal that is going on in the circles of the sporting fraternity in the present campaign. There are certain persons, however, who are influenced by these events, and that is why they are arranged. When the ordinary citizen, who does not fully understand these matters, sees the statement that the betting odds are two to one, or three to two, or some other figure, against this or that candidate, his natural disposition is to feel that no one would risk his money on such odds unless he had some information not generally available, which gave him confidence. That goes a great deal to establish a wider and more general confidence, which would not be the result if all the inside facts were known.

The Chicago News tersely remarks that one beautiful moral to be drawn from southeastern Europe is the blessedness of hitting first.

Current Comment.

The Panic of 1893

In one of his speeches delivered in New York last night Mr. Wilson gave a new explanation of the panic of 1893. He absolved the Cleveland administration from all blame and put the responsibility on the previous administration and the delay of the senate in passing the house bill repealing the purchasing clause of the Sherman act. In effect he declared that the panic was on the way, and would have arrived if General Harrison had been re-elected. Can he make that good?

Undoubtedly there would have been silver legislation, and probably some revision of the McKinley tariff law under a second Harrison administration, but the business world would not have been much disturbed either by the prospect or by the work when taken in hand. The republican party was strongly for gold, and thoroughly committed to protection. Moreover General Harrison was in full accord with all but the spoilsmen of his party. He had matters in general well in hand and a panic was not on the horizon. Not even the crystal gazers were predicting one.

The trouble—the party grew out of the success at the polls, out of a political party opposed to the republican party, but of a loosely constructed, heterogeneous combination representing all sorts of notions and opinions. Free traders and protectionists, free silver men and gold men, spoilsmen and civil service reformers, had joined hands under a candidate nominated and financed by large eastern money influences led by W. C. Whitney and now stood responsible for the affairs of the government.

What would the combination do? What could it do under such a leader? How could it do the fair thing by silver, as the silver men had understood that promise without rejecting the advice of the gold men? And how could it revise the tariff on the proposition of the unconstitutionality of protection without alienating the large number of democrats led by Mr. Gorman who believed in protection quite as sincerely as General Harrison himself?

The business world, and for that matter the political world, keenly felt the danger looked around, and saw the inevitable. The combination in office could not be held together, and the timid and the cautious, ran to cover immediately, after the announcement of polling day.

The present combination expected by Mr. Wilson to elect him president is in some particulars like that of twenty years ago. It faces both ways on the tariff question, and several ways on the trust question. What will it do with the tariff? What can it do with the trusts? Can Mr. Wilson succeed where Mr. Cleveland failed? The expected triumph of the polls will not be that of homogeneous party, agreed on all vital questions and moving toward the redemption of a national platform, but of another loosely constructed combination pledged to opposite things.—Washington Star.

The South and the House

Near the end of the campaign Representative Moore of Pennsylvania raises the issue of the great power exercised by the South in the organization of the House. She controls forty chairmanships, and in the next House will probably control quite as many and maybe more.

There are no votes in the complaint. The South's power is founded in reason and experience. She has the men of training on the job. While North, East and West for sixteen years have been sending in the main only republicans to Congress, the South has kept steadily in the choice of democrats. In the darkest days of Mr. Bryan's three candidacies for President she remained true to the democracy. Each House showed the party's strength still undiminished in that quarter.

Hence the rise of both Mr. Clark and Mr. Underwood in the congressional scale. Their constituents, finding them thoroughly capable and satisfactory renewed their commissions every two years, until at last when the democracy obtained control of the House and needed its best for supreme leadership there, the gentleman from Missouri and the gentleman from Alabama had no competitors. Every consideration of wisdom and prudence pointed to the one for speaker, and to the other for their leader.

The same thing was true of many important chairmanships. No experience were demanded, and the South offered them. Her sons composed the great majority of the veterans of the body, and rightfully had the call. Only here and there appeared a democrat from elsewhere with such a claim to consideration. Mr. Suller of New York was one, and he got the chairmanship of foreign affairs, and Mr. Fitzgerald of New York was another, and he got the chairmanship of appropriations.

If present prospects hold the other sections of the country will send many democrats to the next House, and among them will be men of promise and capacity. The South, however, will still present the greater number of members, trained for legislative business and familiar to the country from legislative service; and in all probability she will be in that body, as she does in the present one, enjoy great prominence in the distribution of influential honors.

In a strict party view of the matter, the South has no more and is looked for more pull in Congress than she deserves. Applying Mr. Wilson's tribute to Mr. Bryan she has been the one fixed star in the democratic firmament. While the party elsewhere laid down, for years or made only a feeble and ineffective demonstration, within her borders it always kept fit, and showed its quality on election day. Why therefore, should not the South lead in the days of triumph and the distribution of good things?—Washington Star.

We come to your section now to tell you all about MUSTEROLE—the magic ointment—the clean, pure, white ointment that does all the work of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the discomfort and without the blister.

MUSTEROLE means mustard oil combined with other simples used in home medicines. Millions of jars are sold annually. It is used in hospitals and in thousands of homes and is frankly recommended by nurses and doctors. Ask your physician about it!

MUSTEROLE has a delicious, comforting, soothing effect. You simply rub

MUSTEROLE on briskly and the pain is gone.

MUSTEROLE is so penetrating that it enters the pores at once—stops the sharp twinges—brings ease and complete relief—and breaks up the congestion. Many use it to prevent pneumonia.

Mustard has been a family remedy for centuries. MUSTEROLE is what Twentieth Century science has made of the remedy that your mother and grandmother depended on.

Thousands who have used MUSTEROLE will gladly tell you what wonderful relief it brings.

ASSAILS BASS AND CHURCHILL

New Hampshire Teacher Calls Them "The Foreign Twins."

Exeter, Oct. 31.—Hallowe'en was dedicated to "Taft" tonight. Red fire, a band concert, marching academy students and cheers kept the town lively until time for the republican rally in town hall.

President Preston of New Hampton academy declared for President Taft, and said:

"If Churchill and Bass had the last copy of the constitution of New Hampshire they would tear it up and begin anew. I characterize them as our political foreign twins, and were they to return to their respective homes in Chicago and St. Louis none of us would shed a tear."

Prof. Preston spoke of Theodore Roosevelt as a psychological freak, who knew the call to sound to arouse the bluff Moose blood of America to see a fancied wrong. Edwin G. Eastman escorted Senator Jacob H. Gallinger to the platform.

The senator quoted Samuel Gompers as heralding a dawn of light for the workman with the ascendancy of the republicans under McKinley in 1897. Quoting from "History of the American People" the senator pointed to Mr. Wilson as stating that under the democracy a great poverty and depression had come upon the country and not until the republican administration came in and a high tariff bill had been enacted into law did the crisis pass. "If you elect Woodrow Wilson next Tuesday," concluded the senator, "a tariff bill will be enacted, industry will cease, prices will go down but you will be like the man who at one time said he could have bought all the real estate in Chicago for a pair of boots, for you will not have the boots."

A PLOT THAT WILL FAIL

Coalition Between Democrats and Progressives to Defeat County Officials.

The Herald learns on good authority that a coalition has been formed in certain places by the democrats and the so called progressives to defeat some of the republican candidates for county offices by casting their vote for the democratic nominee. We venture to predict that when the votes are counted all the republican candidates will be elected by a good sized majority. The present county officials have conducted the county affairs with marked success.

Ceylon Spinney has made an ideal Sheriff, ever alert to the welfare of the county, and his department record gives Republicans and all good citizens the greatest satisfaction. That his vote will be large goes without saying.

Solicitor Ernest L. Guphill has lived up to his high professional reputation, and in every way he has made good, in his first term. Fearless in the discharge of his duties he has used great tact in the handling of many important cases, winning the approval of both court and people. His reelection is a foregone conclusion.

Register of Deeds John W. A. Green and Register of Probate Robert Scott are men peculiarly adapted to their official duties. The offices of each have been conducted with the sole purpose of serving the public, and with the most satisfactory results. Patrons of these offices of whatever political view are a unit in praise of the work of Registers Green and Scott and their vote will not be confined by party lines. Both deserve a handsome endorsement.

In Messrs George A. Carlisle, William A. Hodgdon and Norman A. Deane the county has a most efficient board of commissioners. All three capable and experienced, the affairs of the county have been managed most economically, without being stingy, with the result that the large institution at Brentwood is looked upon as a model of economic results by other counties in the state. Its inmates are all kindly cared for and contented. The county finances are in excellent shape, as are the various county buildings, and no criticism of our officials has been made by even their political opponents. The board should have an unqualified endorsement.

County Treasurer James L. Parker has been an obliging official, and his long experience in kindred official duties make him a valuable counselor to his colleagues.
EVERY REPUBLICAN and EVERY INTERESTED CITIZEN should VOTE for ALL the NOMINEES in the FIRST column of the official ballot.

Attention!

The Republican party is the only Lincoln party which Abraham ever knew or recognized. It is the party which saved the nation from disintegration in 1861, and preserved the Stars and Stripes as our national emblem, and which has always protected the weak and defenseless. It has never failed to champion the cause of human rights, and to raise them above the passionate demands of the fortune hunter. Its program for the future shows its vitality and its appreciation of the governmental agency. The attempt of the Democratic party to change our protective system to one of free trade is an attack of colossal proportions upon the bread-winners of America. The attempt of the so-called Progressive party to secure a place in control by capitalizing the ills and misfortunes of mankind, which must always exist, while its leader with a bandanna in his hands seeks to beguile the poor man with promises of enviable bounties he knows he cannot give, is an insult to the intellect of the thinking man and a sin in the sight of God. Prosperity is nation-wide. Why change, why take a chance, a leap in the dark? Beware of that party which extends glittering inducements to capture votes, but which has never made good when given an opportunity. A mistake at this time may destroy not only your own prosperity, but the opportunities for your children which have been vouchsafed to you.

RENDERING COMPANIES INDICTED IN FEDERAL COURT

Control 95 Per Cent of Business in New England and Wants to Con- trol Others--Had Agreement With Local Company.

BOSTON, MASS., OCTOBER 31.—Edward F. Swift of Chicago, president of the Consolidated Rendering Company; Edward A. Thiden of that city, vice president; George H. Swift of Boston, director and stockholder; Horatio W. Heath, general manager; and the company itself were indicted by the Federal Grand Jury today, for conspiring to monopolize the trade and commerce in the rendering business.

The indictments were returned in the United States District Court before Judge Morton. It is charged that the company, which in 1904 controlled 40 percent of the business, now controls about 95 percent of it, through unfair oppression, tortious and unlawful conduct.

It is alleged the defendants paid excessive prices for raw materials and did business at a loss for the purpose of eliminating smaller concerns, paid the prices they would ruin the business and be driven out of business, or forced to sell out to the Consolidated Rendering Company.

It is further charged that the defendants stifled competition by paying liberal amounts for the business of competitors, who were doing a small business and found it difficult to pay the exorbitant prices for raw materials that the Consolidated Company was paying to persons from whom they had been buying.

It is charged that the defendants actually forced competitors from competition and bought out the business of others. The business consisted in buying suet, cuds, shop fats and bones and other similar finished products.

The indictments allege the Consolidated Company control the Charles Buck & Son Company, Boston Hide and Skin Company, Commonwealth Glue Company, Essex Glue and Gelatine Company, Hinkley Rendering Company, George E. Marsh, New England Rendering Company and Whitman & Pratt Company.

It is alleged the Consolidated Company has an arrangement with the Eastern Oil and Rendering Company of Portsmouth, N. H. John Beardon & Sons of Cambridge, whereby they it is claimed the latter two companies agreed with the Consolidated Company not to buy raw materials in certain places where they had been wont to purchase such materials, and the Consolidated Company stipulated it would not buy materials in other places, so that each would have an exclusive field in different localities, instead of engaging in competition.

It is charged the defendant Company is engaged in a combination with the N. Ward Company of Boston, S. A. Mearns Company of Mattapan, and James F. Morse Company of Roxbury, the effect and purpose of which is to prevent competition between them and to have a division of trade in the purchase of raw materials from wholesale dealers.

Special United States Attorney Gregg has handled the prosecution of the cases. The Grand Jury has been investigating the business for several weeks under the direction of Mr. Gregg.

FUNERAL OF VICE PRESIDENT SHERMAN.

UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 31.—In order to obtain a large auditorium, the first decision to hold the funeral of Vice-President Sherman in the Reformed Dutch Church has been abandoned and the First Presbyterian Church will be used for that purpose. The service will begin at 2 p. m. Saturday, and will be conducted jointly by Dr. Holden, pastor of the Dutch Church, and Dr. M. W. Striker, president of Hamilton College, of which college Mr. Sherman was an alumnus.

The body of the Vice President will lie in state at the Onondaga County house Friday from 2 p. m. to 9 p. m., and it is expected that it will be returned to the Sherman residence for private services there, Saturday morning.

Mr. Sherman was treasurer of the Reformed Dutch Church, and a bulletin was posted in the church's edifice today expressing the church's appreciation of his character. Dr. Holden gave out the following:

"Words fail to express my sense of personal loss in the death of Mr. Sherman. I prize the memory of an uninterrupted friendship throughout the eight years of this pastorate. Mr. Sherman was one of the first to greet my arrival in Utica. He at once undertook the care of our church finances. His interest in our work has been constant; his cheerful confidence inspiring, and his kindly counsel invaluable.

"I have learned to know him as a man of deep faith. Repeatedly he has seized the opportunity to speak for Christ at our public gatherings, his words carrying a weight with men which any preacher might covet. His life has entered into the fiber of our church life. His influence will prove an abiding memorial. Pastor and people alike mourn the loss of a dear personal friend, an honorable counselor and a loyal fellow-worker in Christ's vineyard.

Mr. Sherman will be buried in Forest

Climate Failed;

Medicine Effective

It has been absolutely shown that rest, fresh air and good food do help many persons suffering from tuberculosis. But it must be admitted that the disease is seldom more than arrested. Something more is needed.

Eckman's Alternative is a medicine made for the treatment of tuberculosis. It has conquered this disease again and again. Often these benefits have been effected where the surroundings were not ideal, yet recoveries resulted. Now we argue that Eckman's Alternative should be used in every case of tuberculosis in addition to good nourishing food and fresh air, which we all need. A remarkable case follows: Weldon, Ill.

"Gentlemen: Through Eckman's Alternative, I have been saved from a premature grave. On December 14, 1904 I was taken with Typhoid Pneumonia. My lungs became very much affected. My sputum was examined and tuberculosis bacilli was found. On February 21, 1905 I was advised to go to Fort Worth, Texas. While there an abscess in my right lung broke and discharged. I grew worse and became very much emaciated. My physician informed me that I must go to Colorado as quickly as possible. I left Texas June 3, and arrived in Canon City, June 3, very feeble. After being there two weeks my physician informed me that my case was hopeless. Three weeks later I returned home weighing 103 pounds, the doctor having given me no assurance of reaching there alive.

"On July 13, 1905, I began taking Eckman's wonderful remedy for Consumption. Today I weigh 158 pounds. I am stout and well and can do any kind of work about my grain elevator. I have not an ache or pain in my lungs, eat well sleep well, and never felt better."

(Sworn affidavit) ARTHUR WEBB, Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung troubles and in rebuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates, or habit forming drugs. For sale by Benjamin Green and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.

"Can't We be a Little More Economical, Dear?"

The man with his nose to the grindstone trying to "make both ends meet" is asking that question of his helpmate more and more as the price of living soars.

will help you immensely by cutting down your butter bills. Use butter on your table, but not in your kitchen. With butter at present prices, you simply could not afford to use it in cooking, even if it would produce better results. But when Cottolene will shorten and fry as good as or even better than butter—and the price is about one-third—why not try it, and practice economy without feeling that you are "skipping" yourself or your table?

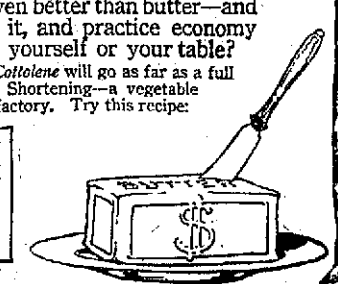

Remember also that two-thirds of a pound of Cottolene will go as far as a full pound of either butter or lard. Cottolene is Nature's Shortening—a vegetable product—healthful, digestible, and in every way satisfactory. Try this recipe:

PLAIN LAYER CAKE

Cream ½ cup Cottolene with 1 cup sugar, mix in alternately ½ cup milk and 2 cups pastry flour, in which 2 teaspoons baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt have been thoroughly sifted. Beat well, flavor, and add three stiffly beaten eggs. Bake in two layers.

This batter is a good foundation recipe and may be used with spices, chocolate, fruit or nuts, with any desired filling.

Private Family Services.

In addition to the public funeral it is possible that there also will be private services at the Sherman house at an earlier hour Saturday, for the benefit of the members of the family exclusively. The wish for such a course has been expressed by some of the members of the household who are averse to appearing at so public a place as the church.

The funeral sermon will be preached by Rev. Dr. Louis H. Holden, who was Mr. Sherman's pastor. Sergeant-at-Arm U. M. Ransdell has telegraphed that 50 members of the Senate will attend. The President's Cabinet and many members of the House of Representatives are also expected.

Among the telegrams of condolence received by Mrs. Sherman were many from Senators and members of the House of Representatives. Senators Gallinger of New Hampshire and Bacon of Georgia, who have acted alternately as president pro tempore of the Senate in Mr. Sherman's absence, were among the first to send messages.

Some of the Mourning Messages.

Senator Gallinger said: "Mr. Sherman's death is to me in the nature of a personal loss, which no words can adequately express. May the good Lord bless you."

Senator Bacon wired: "I beg to express my profound sympathy in this hour of your unspeakable affliction in the death of your universally loved husband. By all the people of the United States his passing away will be deplored as a great National loss and by each Senator he will be mourned as a personal friend."

Many messages of condolence were received here in the night, and they continue to pour in today from all quarters of the country. They include telegrams from President Taft, Col. Roosevelt and most of the men in public life. These messages of sympathy began to arrive even before Mr. Sherman had actually passed away, but all such were for the time withheld from the family.

The Wabash to Be Sold.

The wooden frigate Wabash, which was launched in 1853, and which during the last 37 years has been stationed at the Boston navy yard as a receiving ship, is to be sold, having outlived its usefulness in the Navy Department. At one time the Wabash rendered distinguished service in the United States navy. During the Civil war she participated in the blockade of Southern ports and was the flagship of Admiral Dupont in the battle of Port Royal. The Wabash also took part in the bombardment and capture of Fort Fisher. From 1872 to 1874 she was the flagship of the Mediterranean squadron. As flagship under Commodore (and later) she brought back to the United States the soldiers of the famous filibuster, General Walker, who attempted to subdue all Central America.

SETS SHOE FASHION

Footwear of United States Standard for Universe.

Backward Evolution in Foot Covering Puts the Wearer Behind the Ancients in Walking Ability—Has Many Defects.

New York—Everybody wears shoes at least one size too small, it is asserted, and with toes too narrow. This gives room for only the great toe to grow and perform its functions, but compresses the other toes until the smallest one is a mere scrap. The foot of man should spread like an animal's paw with every step he takes. This is impossible in a shoe which "fits" the foot.

Walter C. Taylor, editor-in-chief of the Boot and Shoe Recorder, says: "The greatest waste in shoe buying is one for which the consumer himself is largely responsible. It comes through the buying of shoes which are poorly fitted."

We not only wear our shoes too small and our heels too high, but we allow fashion to influence us, and there is a constant demand for change in style and material; a demand which the manufacturers supply abundantly. Mr. Taylor says that it would be worth millions to the trade and to the consumer if this could be righted by a common sense view of our foot covering. Of course the women are blamed for the greater part of this extravagance, for a dainty foot has long been considered much to be desired. Gradually shoes have developed into things of beauty merely and we buy them with the thought of their appearance and not of their use. In fact, Americans, as a rule do not expect to walk great distances. It seems that the development of the shoe maker's art is in inverse ratio to the development of the foot, for here in America our feet are not only undeveloped, and yet American leads the world in the making of shoes. Almost everything else in the way of wearing apparel depends more or less on foreign importations, but America influences the shoe style of England, Germany and France, and American methods are standard to the world.

American supremacy in shoemaking is due largely to specialization. Abroad an operative does half dozen different things; here he performs one simple process, and he also one factory makes one kind of shoes. If a large manufacturer makes different kinds of shoes he has separate factory for each kind.

What a slight the modern shoe factory would be to the primitive shoemaker of colonial days, who was a itinerant workman, carried his tool with him and stayed with each family long enough to make up the former supply of home brewed leather into shoes enough to last until his next annual visit. His last was roughly whittled out of a piece of wood; suit the largest foot in the family; and then pared down for the successive sizes. He sat on a low bench end of which was divided into compartments where his awls, hammers, knives and rasps were kept with his pots of paste and blacking his palms, thread, linings and buttons "shoulder sticks" and "rub sticks."

With all of our wonderful machinery we produce shoes which are not so good for our feet as the most primitive and simplest of foot covering the sandal, which is considered ideal by those who appreciate the beauty of the human foot and wish to preserve it. The sandal was worn by the ancient Egyptians and Greeks and the "shoes" of the Bible were sandals. The same type is still worn by the peoples of Central Asia, India, Japan and China.

The Indian moccasin, which extends over the top of the foot, but has the sole and main part in one piece, is one of the best of foot coverings, soft, flexible and durable. Out of a combination of these two the sole without an upper and the upper without a sole the modern shoe has been evolved.

DIGS UP $75,000 TREASURE

Mexican Banker Recovers Loot Buried by Noted Outlaw Fifty Years Ago.

San Jose, Cal.—Seventy-five thousand dollars' worth of buried treasure was unearthed by a Mexican banker of Ensenada, state of Sonora, from a mountain ridge in Benito county, according to a story told by William Rogers, who says he acted as the Mexican's guide.

Rogers says his employer carried a map true in every detail to the topography of the section. Two Mexican laborers accompanied the banker and dug out the treasure chest—an iron bound oak affair partly rotted with age. It was discovered eight feet underground, at the foot of a huge oak tree. The treasure consisted of $10,000 in silver bullion and $65,000 in gold ingots.

It is believed the money was buried by a Mexican outlaw named Vasquez, whose band operated in that region half a century ago.

FIGHTING BEDBUGS.

Navy Physicians Declare They Are Spreading Typhoid Fever.

For many years the navy has been fighting the cockroach and the bedbug but with little success until it was discovered that these bugs were spreading disease. The Army and Navy Register of October 26 has the following interesting article on the matter:

The bedbug is a common nuisance. It is now put in the new role of a carrier of typhoid fever. Passed Asst. Surgeon R. B. Riggs U. S. N. in the article appearing in the September issue of the Military Surgeon tells of the discovery that cockroaches were spreading typhoid fever on the cruiser Newark in 1904. An active campaign was waged against them and with their disappearance the epidemic came to an abrupt end. Several of the cockroaches were caught and as a result a laboratory experiment it was decided that they carried typhoid germs. Through this experience Dr. Riggs became suspicious of bugs in general, and in 1910 while handling a violent outbreak of typhoid he decided that the bedbug was responsible for the transmission of the disease from the first case to successive ones. The emergency was so great that none of the bugs were taken or laboratory investigation. However, the surrounding circumstances were such as to circumstantially prove his theory. The outbreak was at a military post situated upon an island wholly isolated from adjacent territory, and having full charge of food and water supplies. Careful investigation was made to discover the cause of the typhoid, but without success. Bedbugs were found in great numbers in the prison house, a wooden structure and effective means were taken to get rid of the parasites. They were carefully destroyed and not another case of typhoid occurred, and there is no record that it has since appeared at that station. Dr. Riggs gives several additional cases among civilians, coming under his observation where the bedbugs undoubtedly carried typhoid fever. He is fully convinced that this bug is a potential factor in the spread of typhoid.

LIBEL ON ARIZONA WEATHER

Tale Impressed Englishman, Who Probably Went Home and Wrote a Book About It.

"Hot weather reminds me," said the fellow who is always ready to tell a story when he gets an opening. "I was riding down through Arizona last summer on a train on which there was a party of Englishmen. You never know what hot weather is until you ride through some of those western states in the summer. The heat rolls up in waves and smites you. Everything except the rattlesnakes and the Indians stay out of the sun's rays as much as possible."

"On a station platform stood a dilapidated sprinkling can. It was full of dents and the spout was lying near the can, both evidently not having been used for months."

"You know I have been telling you we have some hot weather out here," said a westerner to one of the Englishmen. "Well, look at that sprinkling can. It has been so hot that it has melted the spout right off! And the farther west you get the hotter it gets," the native son finished as he noticed the awed look on the foreigner's face."

PLATINUM REALLY AN ALLOY

Its Use by Jewelers and Dentists Is What Has Made It a Costly Metal.

The mineral called platinum is really a natural alloy of iridium, rhodium, palladium and often osmium, with varying amounts of iron, copper and gold. It is usually found as small nuggets, scales and rounded or irregular grains. Its color is steel gray. The specific gravity of the crude platinum varies from 14 to 19. The output of platinum in the United States is practically limited to California and Oregon.

Owing to its high melting point and great resistance to acids, platinum is extensively used for laboratory utensils. Platinum salts are employed in chemical analyses. In the manufacture of sulphuric acid the metal has been used in making large concentration kettles, but of late gold has been substituted for it. In photography, dentistry and electric installation much platinum is used. Of late the manufacture of jewelry has consumed large quantities of it. It is extensively used for chains and for the setting of diamonds, the claim being made, not only that it is more resistant than silver and harder than gold, but that the stones are better offset by platinum and appear larger than in any other kind of setting.—From a Geological Survey Report.

ICES A UNIVERSAL DELICACY

People of the South of Italy Remarkable for Their Fondness for This Simple Refreshment.

If you wish to realize what devotion to ices means you should go to Palermo. All over the south of Italy, ices are eaten to an extent of which we do not dream, but in Sicily and Palermo in particular the custom has attained amazing proportions. Ices are eaten by people of all ranks and ages from morning to night. Where a true Briton would demand a glass of beer the Palermo asks for an icos. Morning, noon and night the consumption of ices goes on. They are in wonderful variety and cheap.

The stranger in that beautiful country finds the cafes invaded between 4 and 5 o'clock by ice eaters. He sees officers and men of the army, merchants and work people, the rich and the poor of both sexes consuming ices with gusto. No one evades this pleasant duty. Lines of carriages draw up at the side of the pavement before the cafes, the occupants, the coachman and the footman all with their favorite delicacy. At first the stranger wonders, then he falls a victim.—London Chronicle.

WONDERFUL WORK OF DOGS

If These Are Not Inventions of Drummers, They Surely Are Remarkable Animals.

The grocery drummer from Chicago had just made some remarks about household pots, which awakened a memory in the mind of the agent from the New York Bond house, out selling securities:

"Speaking of that," said he, flogging the ashes off the end of his cigar, "I'm very fond of dogs. I have a pointer at home that's a wonder. Taking him altogether, he is the most intelligent animal I ever saw. You gentlemen may not believe it, but it is nevertheless a fact that whenever I go out riding in my motor through a hitherto untraveled country I always take Roger along with me, and he sits up alongside of me in front. Whenever we come to a crossroad, and I find myself up a tree as to which turning to take, I simply put the question to him, and in every blessed case he has instinctively pointed in the right direction."

"I can well believe that," said the grocery drummer. "I have a retriever in my house that is quite as wonderful. I don't believe my wife and I could possibly get along without him. If my wife mislays anything, from a rolling pin to a bridge score, anywhere around the house, all she has to do is to set Bob after it, and he finds it. When I am in a hurry to catch a train in the morning and my collar button slips out of my hands and disappears, as collar buttons are almost certain to do at such moments, good old Bob gives a yelp of delight and goes after it, saving me no end of trouble, much time, and some language."—Lippincott's Magazine.

PASSENGERS HAVE CLOSE CALL

The 8.19 Train Jumps Track at Hampton Falls and Both Tracks are Blocked

Passengers on the Wolfeboro and Boston train leaving this city at 8.19 a. m., got the scare of their lives at Hampton Falls station today. The train was in charge of conductor Colbath and engineer Wilson and made up of six cars was just slowing down to make a stop when he forward trucks of the smoking car jumped the track and went bumping over the ties for nearly 150 yards. When the train came to a standstill the smoking car was across the both main line tracks blocking traffic east and west. It is thought that the accident was due in some way to the action of the air brake. The fact that the engineer had got a signal to make a stop at this station and had greatly reduced the speed of the train prevented a more serious accident. No passengers were hurt though the men in the smoker were badly shaken up. Conductor Charles Rennie and wreckmaster Edward Weeks with the local wrecking crew and a force of section men left here at 9.30 for the scene of the wreck. The passengers of the train were transferred to a special train sent out from Newburyport. At Newburyport they took a regular train for Boston and way stations.

read were delayed for more than an hour in Lynn early Thursday evening, caused by the bursting of the pump pipe on locomotive 3236, in charge of Engineer Fred Johnson, bound for this city. A still alarm brought the chemical and hose wagon from the Broad-street engine house and it required a stream from a hydrant to extinguish the fire in the locomotive. Engineer Johnson and his fireman escaped without injury. The train was in charge of Conductor Garland.
